The Other Letter (for free-thinkers over 18 years of age)...

Welcome to The Other Letter. While villified, censored, and hacked, this blog is a twenty-two year labor of love. A famous human relations course stressed avoiding religion and politics in relationships, yet I feel these should be discussed in a forum such as this, that is what I find very interesting in life, so I present my opinion-editorials on these as well as other topics in this web space.

Use parental controls to block websites from your children, it is especially important to block pornography. I get thirty visitors every day, I wouldn't want to have any reading that shouldn't, because of political or religious objections of parents.

Now, back to the rest of my presentation...

1. This is an Excel spreadsheet of a printable grocery shopping list. Plan ahead when shopping for groceries.
2. Meditate away the blues.
3. Thank you for driving responsibly.
4. My grandfather passed on a short list of guidelines for a happy life. My dad passed them along to me:
    1. If someone wants a loan, give the money away instead. If they don't have the money now, they won't have the money later.

2. Buy real estate, they're not making any more of it.
3. Get an education, at least until you're twenty-one years old.
4. Learn to box (okay, this was circa 1945).
5. Do not drink alcohol.

5. Drugs kill people every day (and alcohol is a drug). Do not become a statistic. Stay clean.

6. If you, or someone you know, has a problem with addiction, such as with alcohol, overeating, narcotics, sex, emotions, or gambling, help is available via proven, Twelve-Step programs. One meeting can change your life, you can be free of addiction. Visit these websites for more information: Alcoholics Anonymous (stinkin' drinkin') and Al-Anon (if someone you know is a problem drinker), Overeaters Anonymous (HALT: hungry; angry; lonely; tired), Narcotics Anonymous (street life ain't no life), Sex Addicts Anonymous (unhealthy, increasing desires), Emotions Anonymous (peer support group), and Gamblers Anonymous (the house always wins, that's how they stay in business). There are more Twelve-Step groups besides these, check your search engine for your disease, or affliction. Left untreated, these diseases can kill.

   "Follow the program," like "One day at a time," and "We aren't perfect," with non-denominational tools like the Serenity Prayer, and the Prayer of Saint Francis, as well as the Twelve Steps. You don't have to go it alone. Share your story. Join the fellowship of people like you. They deal with what you deal with. Don't fall off the wagon. Learn the program, one day at a time.

   Every day can be a blessing. Maybe catch up with old friends and family, or enjoy the better weather outside. "Easy does it." The day can be enjoyed — unlike in flooded and impoverished Afghanistan, or war-torn Iran, where it's a real struggle to simply survive.

   I know I criticize Donald Trump a lot, but I will say something positive about him, he doesn't drink alcohol. His brother, Fred Trump, Jr., died of alcoholism at the age of forty-two. "D.J." learned that lesson.

7. Next time you have chicken, beef, or pork, please be aware that a living being was slaughtered so you could eat, so finish your serving in honor of the sacrifice. Thank you.

8. These are news websites without paywalls (although a few may have pay enticements): List of NPR stations; NPR website; Reuters; US News; Huffpost; USA Today; PIX11; 1010WINS; News12; ABCNews; MS NOW; CBSNews; NBCNews; The Hill; Politico; The Guardian; NY Post; Village Voice.

9. For all those answering the call: I've wondered when a police officer calls off a chase. I understand that some officers will not ever call off a chase. The speeder, cruising at 160mph or more, will have the officer go after them, and bring them to justice. There are cars — Maserati, Porsche, Ferrari, and Lamborghini, for instance, not to mention Shelby 'Stangs, Hemi 'Cudas, or '55 Nomad Chevy Bowtie skin with a '90 Camaro under the hood (Jay Leno's show) — that are really made for the track, but they are driven by amateur racers, who flaunt the law, and can easily top 160mph, which is a rocket ship without full control by the driver. I wonder if a cop will say, they're just going too fast to catch, they'll find out the hard way, when they wrap their car around an oak tree, and Jaws of Life are ineffective.

10. To Long Island afficionados: Did you know there was a nudie beach between Robert Moses Beach and Kismet? I wonder whatever happened to that. It was interesting, it made the walk to the restaurants in town, more fun.

11. Do strict vegetarians get enough protein? I know they don't get animal protein, but do they get the proteins the body requires from, say, lentils? How is the general health of strict vegetarians, are they anemic? Being a vegetarian sounds appealing, but are they as a class, just as healthy as those who eat animal protein?

12. Over the years, I have collected many vinyl records, CDs, cassettes, and taped YouTubes via Moo0 sound card recorder. They are on my Synology server, on its Disk Station app. Because of the Fair Use Doctrine, I can convert my collection to MP3 compressed audio (the problem is if I sold the MP3s, which I never did). Then I put these on my server. Anyway, here is a list of the best albums I own:

Billy Joel's The Stranger [Christie Brinkley in her autobio, Uptown Girl, said it was his best.]
Ella Langley's Dandelion [Taylor Swift, check your rear view mirror, she is competition for any act today]
The Allman Brothers Eat a Peach [also their Greatest Hits]
Led Zeppelin II [Robert Plant, their frontman, said 1969 was their best year, this is from 1969]
Simon & Garfunkel's Greatest Hits [Any age]
Yes' Going for the One [so underrated, their best]
Steely Dan's Aja [for all you drummers out there, check out the title track]
Steve Winwood (of Traffic) Chronicles [also Low Spark of Highheeled Boys from Traffic]
Jefferson Airplane Surrealistic Pillow
The Grateful Dead's Europe'72 [also Terrapin Station, American Beauty and Mars Hotel]
Meatloaf's Bat out of Hell [lot of fun]
Joni Mitchell's Court and Spark [Who is Joni Mitchell? This is her best.]
The Rolling Stones Made in the Shade [Several: Sticky Fingers; Let it Bleed; Exile on Main Street]
Van Halen's Van Halen
The Beatles' Abbey Road [Disbanded in 1970, but these are still no worse for wear: Sargent Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band; Yellow Submarine]

Honorable Mention: Emerson, Lake & Palmer's Brain Salad Surgery (Karn Evil, Impressions 1 and 2); Works (Side 2, Greg Lake's contribution)

13. Wondering what Christ said about life's travails? Here is a list of famous quotes from Jesus the Christ, along with basic commentary.

14. Don't forget to check out the Other Letter YouTubes, you might also like this selection of Billy Joel's greatest hits, and deep album tracks.

15. Haven't we had enough of the gun violence? Then repeal 2A. By legalizing firearms and vigilantism, the Second Amendment of the U.S.

Constitution kept slaves in check, and quelled slave rebellions. Nearly two thirds of our Founding Fathers owned slaves, including Thomas Jefferson, and George Washington, who owned upwards of one-hundred African-Americans apiece. Civilized societies do not enable gun-toting Dirty Harry wannabes with itchy trigger fingers. Given hunting is a non-sustenance sport, then use a bow and arrow to slaughter defenseless Bambis, give them a chance of surviving. Repeal 2A, with gun buybacks.

16. America was founded 250 years ago on an enviable concept, the standard for the world: “that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.”

17. “All the world’s a stage,
And all the men and women merely Players;
They have their Exits and their Entrances,
And one man in his time plays many parts,
His acts being seven ages.”
— The Bard, William Shakespeare, As You Like It, Act II, Scene VII.

18. When, in disgrace with fortune and men’s eyes,
I all alone beweep my outcast state,
And trouble deaf heaven with my bootless cries,
And look upon myself and curse my fate,
Wishing me like to one more rich in hope,
Featured like him, like him with friends possessed,
Desiring this man’s art and that man’s scope,
With what I most enjoy contented least;
Yet in these thoughts myself almost despising,
Haply I think on thee, and then my state,
(Like to the lark at break of day arising
From sullen earth) sings hymns at heaven’s gate;
For thy sweet love remembered such wealth brings
That then I scorn to change my state with kings.
—The Bard, Sonnet XXIX.

A reporter holds a microphone but there is no audio from the event. Jackie Kennedy has her head tilted to her right towards LBJ as if to say he was responsible for the assassination of her husband. Albert Thomas, a congressman from Texas, also tilts his head reiterating, or essentially validating, the First Lady's posture.

Kennedy (the first Catholic in the White House) was soft on Vietnam having pulled out advisors two days before November 22nd, the day of the slaying. Two days after the coup d'état, LBJ put advisors back into Vietnam. LBJ was a Texas Dixiecrat, a hawk, a hardliner on Vietnam.

The sixth floor of the Book Depository doesn't have windows that open. Lee Harvey Oswald was a patsy and said so. Secret Service detail in the motorcade assassinated JFK. Caroline Kennedy may be able to shed some light on the relationship between her mother, Jacqueline Kennedy, and LBJ.

JFK's NSAM 263, led to the withdrawal of troops in Vietnam (NSAM is a National Security Action Memorandum). LBJ's NSAM 273, called for more involvement in Vietnam. The policy document was approved by LBJ the day after the Kennedy assassination.

While murder appears in YouTube, the Zaprauder bystander film of the assassination is absent from searches. Also odd about the parade, there was little reason for it, 1963 was not the year of a major election.

The funeral of Lee Harvey Oswald, murdered two days after the assassination by Jack Ruby, was attended by his family. Seventy-five reporters were not allowed to cover the deletion, but did act as pallbearers.

20. Friend to all, malice towards none.

21. You get eighty trips around the Sun, have a little fun before you pass to the next realm. Try not to be an a-hole, and if you do come across that way, remember that we are not perfect. Just saying.

22. Love one another.

23. Lord, I tried. Some god would say you did not try hard enough, but my God says, you did try, you did enough, you are good with me.

24. These are the Ten Commandments as presented in the Old Testament of the Holy Bible.

25. Utopian Economics: Create a two-tier economy, one for staples like food and shelter; the second for discretionary and luxury goods. The prior is guaranteed by, say, United Nations charter giving every human a right to have food to eat, this could be subsidized by government. The latter is the traditional currency-bearer economy where money is a full medium of exchange, and a store of value.

26. I wonder how capitalistic France is (creed: Liberté, égalité, fraternité), or in nations with a significant cultural and language barrier. How much of their lives are dictated by the mean green? The Amish are hardly capitalists, as are Pacific Islanders, and the First Peoples of North America.

27. Economic slowdowns (such as that caused by government shutdowns), must effect the weather, and slow climate change, cooler weather prevails. Less greenhouse gas is emitted when the economy slows, travel is at a premium. COVID-19 was another example of less use of internal combustion engines, and less emission of carbon-based, fossil fuels, and its by-product, greenhouse gases.

28. Who freed the slaves? That's right, Moses did, he led the Exodus from Egypt. Lincoln's first priority was saving the Union, not freeing the slaves.

29. There isn't any beginning of time. Time is infinite in both directions, past and future. Big Bang fans will be disappointed, and in fact, disabused of the notion that time is finite, that at one point, the Universe materialized.

30. IMHO, England has us beat in the radio department. Check out Radio Caroline, or Radio Jackie (think Kennedy). Choose from North American or UK feed, North American feed satisfies royalty law, UK may be better for most tastes. (Can also be accessed via the UK Radio app.) And English radio, you may have competition, Trans Radio Canada.

31. Do you like Smooth 70s music? Would you like to hear all 70s, all day, mostly listener-supported, with a minimum of commercial interruptions? Or hear the angels sing at Choral Classical, or movie scores at Klassik Movie Radio, from Augsburg. [Roku > MyTuner app > search for Smooth 70s, Choral Classical, or Movie Radio.] (These are not paid endorsements.)

32. What did the Silent Majority think of Vietnam? Here is a time capsule, a celebration of Lt. William Calley, who led the My Lai Massacre, and murdered over 500, unarmed, men, women, and children. Click the "L" on the left, then the "L" on the right, at the top of this page.

33. After the culling, is the resurrection, given the demise of the reign of gold. Is this the prophesied share and share alike, the Garden of Eden, King Arthur's Round Table, the gathering of the administers of justice, peace, and well-being. Ebbing, however glacially, towards a better way, one at once more fulfilling, and more efficient. 9/12/26.

34. If food distribution was interrupted by economic downturn (Farmaggedon is a recent example), there is the possibility of a moratorium on cash payments for harvesting, tilling equipment of the mechanized, diesel-powered, modern farm. (The Amish, for centuries, have even eschewed the gas, combustion engine.) In other words, it is in national interests to produce food, so billing could be noted, but invoices not immediately paid or required, for fertilizer, and other factors of farming production. Fertile land does not have to lay fallow.

35. The Mortality Project would be a statistical modeling of factors known or suspected to affect one's life duration. Factors included in a health census could be: Hours of exercise a week; symptoms of poor health; diet, vegetarian, or carnivore, and reliance on what is popularly known as "junk food," and which brands of fast food; stress events such as divorce; tobacco and marijuana smoking; alcohol drinking; etcetera. This long-term census could be conducted via an online, confidential survey, and could even be part of an academic course in statistical modeling and health sciences. The results could be fine-tuned such that an unsatisfying divorce takes years off one's life, or just continues to lower one's happiness score from 8 to 4 out of 10. Subjects of the study would be solely voluntary participants.

36. In its essence, beauty is good, robust health.

37. Do you like Smooth 70s music? Would you like to hear all 70s, all day, mostly listener-supported, with a minimum of commercial interruptions? Or hear the angels sing at Choral Classical, or movie scores at Klassik Movie Radio, from Augsburg. [Roku > MyTuner app > search for Smooth 70s, Choral Classical, or Movie Radio.] (These are not paid endorsements.)

38. The head coach of the Green Bay Packers football team, Vince Lombardi, was one of the winningest coaches ever. He could beat you with yours, or win with his own. One Packer later remarked: "Lombardi treated us all the same — like dogs." In pro sports, winning is not everything, it is the only thing.

39. If you are tired of ads watching Youtubes, develop your own MP3 collection by converting tapings of albums, cassettes, and CDs, into compressed format via Audacity. Then upload onto a Synology music server via Disk Station (say, $120 for server housing, with two, $70 hard disks, one mirroring the first for instant backup). It is a slightly complex process, but is intuitive, and the finished result, every TV and mobile phone with every album you ever owned, can be very impressive. (Intermediate difficulty.)

40. Those who put stock in channeling Jesus the Christ, over reading his Bible, The New Testament, are missing his written message, they may be using their imagination to channel a Christ.

    Did you know that Jesus the Christ did not sleep so much, or at all? Check the Gospel of Luke, Chapter 22, Verse 46:

    > "[45] And when he rose up from prayer, and was come to his disciples, he found them sleeping for sorrow, [46] And said unto them, Why sleep ye? rise and pray, lest ye enter into temptation."

41. "This country allows bloggers to get the death penalty, Other. I have here this suicide note from Spud Wilkins. You are up for murder one. Spud is dead. He left this suicide note. What happened to Spud? He read through your blog many times. You know why he is dead? He started a Young Communists Club at his university of choice. Spud was very popular once. The Spud was laughed out of his university. His final words: 'I read Other Letter, and I started taking on another persona, I had become an OL clone, now I am just an OL clown.' Stop murdering our children, Other Letter. You are under arrest. Here's . Let's see, what did I do with Miranda? The precinct keeps an entire binder with OL suicide notes. Next stop, Rikers for you. Then lethal injection. Spud is dead, OL, Spud is dead. Now, what did I do with Miranda?"

42. Ask your oil burner repairman to set your boiler at 120° F. instead of 140°. This will save on your oil bill this winter. I've done this for at least two years, and it is best practices to reduce oil cost for your home.

43. 68% percent of days have less daylight than today
    (for everyone in the Southern Hemisphere).

45. Did you know that Psalms were part of the Old Testament? We may have been singing the praises of Jehovah. Christ wasn't yet born. 8/12/26.

46. Do you believe in a hereafter? Its existence may be more than just a matter of faith — that the worthy are rewarded with heaven when they pass away — there may also be a logical basis for an afterlife. Energy cannot be created nor destroyed, only transformed. Famed physicist, Isaac Newton, posited this as a now proven, law of physics. Then what happens to spiritual energies when we pass on? Given the miracle of life, that a Creator has apparently provided, couldn't there be a miracle after death in the form of a spiritual heaven? We can only measure energies that our instruments can detect, there may be other energies for which we are not privy as living beings with limited instrumentation.

47. Honor thy mother and father. Just saying.

48. Artemis II, carrying three Americans (including an African-American and a woman) as well as one Canadian, safely touched down into the Pacific Ocean, after circling the Moon for the first time in a crewed mission since 1972. Integrity's landing capsule entered Earth's atmosphere at 20,000+ MPH, and the heat shields worked perfectly, withstanding 4,000° of friction. It was a "flawless," "textbook," mission. NASA has done it once again. Makes you proud to be an American and a Canadian. We got the right stuff. 4/10/26.

49. Here is tangible proof that humanity is not just the product of surviving, random DNA mutation (as geneticists and evolutionists have proposed): We can walk, talk, smile, think logically, enjoy music, dream, and love, among a vast multitude of other activities. Our bodies can convert sugars into muscle energy, blood carries oxygen throughout our bodies for this metabolism, we can self-heal with clotting, and we can procreate. Then revere this masterpiece of the Creator, Creation, and the preternatural life force.

Given the incredible complexity of biochemical systems, it would certainly seem that they are not predicated on random processes, or random DNA mutation, that their creation followed a path, or ebbed in a direction, even preordained, outside of the natural, that these generative processes are supernatural. We are not the product of a long-term, spontaneous, chemistry experiment.

At a cinema event celebrating the work of famed geneticist, James Watson, there was a panel discussion. I asked how cells are created, how does the DNA know to initiate a split and make copies? Watson, and the Director of Cold Spring Harbor Labs, also present, did not have an answer. I'll brag, I was applauded for asking the question.

50. Why do National Intelligence Chief, Tulsi Gabbard (Trump flip-flopper), DHS Sect. Kristi Noem (deposed ICE queen, now Shield of the Americas relegation), Press Sect. Karoline Leavitt (Trump apologetics), and Attorney General Pam Bondi (Epstein files mess, no prosecutions, fired), all look like supermodels? (Highlight names, and search images, with your browser.) Is Trump trying to satisfy his MAGA base (generally speaking, white males) in some prurient sense?...

    D.J. Trump just fired AG Pam Bondi, thanking her, "...Pam did a tremendous job..." Bondi's apparent replacement is Lee Zeldin, former House rep from Eastern Long Island, and a very close ally with Trump. While this sounds a lot like political patronage — Zeldin staunchly defended Trump at his first impeachment hearings — he is also against Planned Parenthood funding, didn't believe in climate change as Trump-appointed, Environmental Protection Agency Director, and voted against certifying Arizona's and Pennsylvania's electoral votes, then in his Patchogue, Long Island office, argued with protestors there against the 2021 Capitol attack. Obedience rewarded by Trump. (Although I will say that his MAGA Republican advisors don't seem to be giving him such great advice. To Trump's credit, he tells it like it is, without fear.)

51. Ever hear of the Weather Underground? If you have a personal weather station (I like Ambient Weather PWS'), you can network its data on Wunderground. (This is not a paid endorsement.)

    Winds out of the South today, a warmer Southerly breeze, warmer weather is here at last!

52. This is how to find where the sun is after sunset, via the moon.
(Works best with waxing and waning crescent, and first and last quarter, lunar phases.)

53. Per The United States Constitution: Article 1, Section 8, Powers of Congress.

    Clause 1: “The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties...”

    Clause 9: “To declare War, grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal, and make Rules concerning Captures on Land and Water;”

54. One would think that by now, Apple would have figured out how to easily replace lithium batteries in their iPhones. Why don’t they engineer user-replaceable, snap-in batteries? What is the most common reason people buy new iPhones? The battery no longer keeps a charge. This must be why the batteries are not easily replaceable, it would be a drain on profits.

    [To maximize battery life, Apple suggests you charge it up to 80%, not 100%. The latest Apple iOS will tell you how many minutes until your iPhone is ready at 80%. Get the latest iOS via Settings > General > Software Update. Check how much battery life you have compared with a new battery, with Settings > Battery > Battery Health & Charging. Show the battery charge left with Settings > Battery > toggle Battery Percentage.]

55. Karen Carpenter, of The Carpenters fame, passed away at the age of 32, or did she?

56. There’s a saying that the only things permanent, are death and taxes. What would you like your eulogizers to say about you, when it’s your time to go; how should your tombstone read; and even, how would you like your obituary to read? (Sorry, kinda morbid, but making a point, leave behind a legacy — like kindness to friends and family — however small in number, or local, quality over quantity. God and good fortune shine favorably upon kind people.)

57. When I was a young man, my father told me that in the back of our brain, is our consciousness, our knowledge of engaging life. Outside of circumstance and gender, we are essentially much, very much, alike. How this arose, was that a man my father knew, noticed how when I was very young, I wasn't afraid of strangers. My Dad's friend said: "He never met a stranger." This was in part because my Dad knew good people, and I may have noticed our similarities, not our differences.

When I was younger, my Dad also said "it was all a game to you." That I didn't take much so seriously. We're all at the game of life, playing our hands at times. (These stories may be a bit of a conceit, but I thought they were interesting.)

58. There is a book called "Silent Spring," written by Rachel Carson. It was about how the proliferation of DDT almost made Spring silent. We may have another silent Spring around here, I just put a squirrel atop my hill. The birds are not accustomed to these temps, and may join the squirrel atop the hill. Feed the birds, become a birder, buy some birdseed, put up a bird feeder, and a squirrel baffle (that means for you, Squirrel). Just saying.

59. I was an economics major, born around the time of hippies, and bohemians. I once thought the solution to the world's ills was to have barter, non-currency economies. Money is the root of all evil, right? Share and share alike, right? There is some evidence of viable economic systems without currency. The Amish are partially communal, as are Pacific Islanders, people once lived in communes.

Was this union scale, or something else?

I asked my Dad what he thought about having a world without money. He said there's a very significant problem with that, and that was, who gets the better stuff? Not everything is of equal quality, everything is built upon metering value, supply and demand intersecting, loans, production scheduling, customers exchanging their cash for factory work, and on and on.

(My Dad also said that one of the reasons that Communism failed, was that people are motivated much more by self-interest, than interest in serving others.)

Money is an extremely convenient medium of exchange, I can exchange my labor at my place of employ for kumquats at my local supermarket; or possibly, invest in companies whose business models I like. Money makes life much better really, the problem is when economic output is inequitably distributed because of discrimination.

60. Developer's notes: Ctrl + "u", in most browsers (like my favorite, Opera), will show the underlying code that I used to create this web page. This is coded with Notepad++, and uploaded to my webserver with Mozilla's Filezilla. Ionos is my webhost, and domain name registrar (the "Other Letter" name is registered to an Ionos' web server, Internet Protocol address, which your Internet browser downloads from, resolves to, when you point to it with your browser).

    I wanted to add the domain "TheOtherLetter.com" and bounce it to this home page, but there's a one-time fee of $197 for new domains. (For me though, Ionos is still really the way to go.) As a senior with a limited budget (especially for hobby niceties), I can't swing that. Write it off against what? I have no revenue. I was never able to arrive at a business model to monetize this. This is so uncommerical anyway. No advertisers or subscribers to deal with, is fine by me.

61. Visit the Long Island Tourist Center, just after exit 51, heading East, on the Long Island Expessway. Interactive exhibits, self-serve, delicious desserts, entrées, credit cards accepted, fully air conditioned. Operated by the New York State Highway Department (there's few people at the Center, even though it is well-budgeted, and the police use it as a favorite hangout).

Thank you for visiting. You have a nice day. May you have many happy, healthy years ahead.
Be grateful for your blessings, and may peace and heaven be with you.
